SNOW POWDER
Patented May 29, 1866.
This is an article for washing without rubbing, except in very dirty places, which will require a very slight rub, and unlike other preparations offered for a like purpose, WILL NOT ROT THE CLOTHES, but will leave them much whiter than ordinary methods, without the usual wear and tear.
It removes grease spots as if by magic, and softens the dirt by soaking, so that rinsing will in ordinary cases entirely remove it.
This powder is prepared in accordance with chemical science, and upon a process peculiar to itself, which is secured by Letters Patent. It has been in use for more than a year, and has proved itself an universal favorite wherever it has been used.—Among the advantages claimed are the following, viz:—
It saves all the expense of soap usually used on cotton and linen goods.
It saves most of the labor of rubbing, and wear and tear.
Also, for cleaning windows it is unsurpassed. With one quarter the time and labor usually required it imparts a beautiful gloss and lustre, much superior to any other mode. No water required except to moisten the powder.
Directions with each package.
And can be readily appreciated by a single trial. The cost of washing for a family of five or six persons will not exceed THREE CENTS.
The manufacturers of this powder are aware that many useless compounds have been introduced to the public which have ruined the cloth, or failed in removing the dirt, but knowing the intrinsic excellence of this article, they confidently proclaim it as being adapted to meet a demand which has long existed, and which has heretofore remained unsupplied. The breadth of the headers (or length on the face) to be not less than the rise of the course, and they are to average at least the breadth of front throughout, and to be at least 5 feet long. The joints of headers will be dove tailed ¾ of an inch to 1 foot from the front, the ends of the stretchers being bevelled to correspond. NEW YORK, Oct. 20.

The Herald's Kingston, Jamaica, correspondence of the 6th says that a commission has arrived to try English officers for the shooting of negroes without trial.

Donations to the fund for the trial of Gen Eyre, continues.

Trade was much depressed.

The stock of American goods is light and prices satisfactory.

The Judge replied they would be liable to arrest.

The Herald's Ottawa despatch says:

A serious difficulty is reported in the Canadian Cabinet, owing to the agitations of Mr. Galt and the confederation and financial embarrassments of the government.

The Tribune's Cohoes, N. Y., special announces the suspension of the extensive knitting firm of that place. Names not given. Liabilities set at above $475,000, and may reach $1,000,000.

The Tribune's New Orleans special says that when Gov. Wolles returns to the city, he will proceed to remove the sheriffs who refuse to do their duties under his proclamation for the election of delegates to the Convention. An interesting case was commenced yesterday in the Supreme Court by Mr. Calvin Lewis Robinson against Mr. Etheldred Woodward. CANADIAN VALOR RIDICULED. Referring to Fenian scares which prevail among the Canadians, the London News thus satirizes the valor of the Kanucks:

Their panic-stricken journals abound in the language of invective against the Government of the United States, while they very lustily for troops from England. The public feeling of the Canadians is so utterly debauched by our habit of doing everything for them that they will not so much as defend themselves against an Irish rabble. This is not at all a question of colonial "loyalty," or of maintaining the "British connection." The Canadians are not required to do anything for us. The work to be done is their own work; that of defending their henroosts and pantries; and rather than do it they talk magniloquently, and invoke the protection of the army of the British Empire.

HEAVY SLANDER SUITS. The St. Louis Democrat has been sued by four indignant secessionists for $25,000 each for slander—a pamphlet having been issued from the Democrat job office containing the names of 8,000 persons disfranchised under the new Constitution, some for being rebels in arms, some getting out foreign protection papers, some for running away from the draft, &c. The list was once called a roll of honor by all the rebel sympathizers in the city.

Advices from Apia report that the Assistant Secretary of the Navy, Captain Fox, has been instrumental in his efforts to induce the Russian Government to contract with American parties for the building of a large number of iron clads and monitors.

A LARGE MORTGAGE. A Chicago despatch to the Cincinnati Gazette says that on the 12th inst. there was filed for record in the Recorder's office of that county, a mortgage by the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad Company, for the handsome sum of $9,000,000. The instrument is executed for the purpose of securing the bonds to be issued by the company, for the purpose of completing and operating its road. In case the company shall decide to continue its line to the Missouri river, then the company reserves the right to issue additional bonds to the amount of $4,500,000. The trustees named in the mortgage are John A. Stewart and William H. Osborn of New York. The stamps on the document amount to nine thousand dollars.

THE NARRAGANSETT INDIANS AND THE RIGHT OF SUFFRAGE. The Boston Journal says that at a conference between a committee of the Rhode Island Legislature and the Narragansett tribe of Indians, on the 9th instant, at Charlestown, R. I., the red men declined to become citizens of the state under the Civil Rights bill. They do not wish to vote. This once famous tribe has dwindled to one hundred and thirty-three persons, and there is a good deal of negro blood among them. They now exist as an independent community, under the guardianship of the state, electing their own officers and making their own laws. They own about 3000 acres of land.

MORE MORMON TROUBLES. The Denver News publishes the following account of another Mormon outrage: "We learn that Mr. Weston, editor of the Salt Lake Union Vidette, was taken by the Mormons on the night of the 3d inst. and severely beaten, and given six hours to leave the city and take with him several prominent gentiles. Mr. Weston refuses to leave, and denounces Mormonism in the bitterest terms. From the frequent occurrence of outrages by the Mormons on the gentiles, serious trouble may be looked for.

The Providence Journal says the story going the rounds respecting the domestic relations of U. S. Senator Sprague, of Rhode Island, and his wife, is an unfounded and malicious calumny, without one iota of foundation. The Journal adds that there is not in the country a man happier, or who deserves to be happier, in his domestic relations, and nothing has occurred to afford even a pretext for the slanders which have been invented by malice and circulated by scandal.

UNWHOLESOME OYSTERS. At Annapolis, Md., on the recommendation of the physicians of that place, the corporate authorities have prohibited the sale of oysters until the 1st of November. A number of sudden deaths have occurred there recently, caused by imprudence in the use of raw oysters, which the late rains in that region have rendered unwholesome.

MATRIMONY IN VERMONT. The Rutland (Vt.) Herald publishes a letter from Montpelier, which says three bills have been introduced into the Vermont Senate, relating to marriage. The tendency of most of them is to reduce marriage to a limited partnership, each party putting in as much capital as seems best, and the partnership to be dissolved upon very small provocation.

The Southern Press.

There are a large class of men in the South who cannot support even President Johnson without a sneer at his want of wisdom and at the insincerity of his Northern friends. The Augusta Constitutionalist protests against the public expression of these opinions, and puts its case, with especial reference to Mr. Seward and Mr. Blair, very pithily thus:

"Suppose, for the sake of argument, that it is true that Northern conservatism is a species of revenge; it is something to congratulate ourselves upon that men have been forced to be patriotic, even from so base a motive, and a thousand times better than the pursuit of revenge for unholy purposes. It would not be the first instance in history where the roused passions of man have yielded unwilling testimony to the truth, and righted what they had wronged, to serve a selfish end. The motive may be impure, the action serviceable. Even in the carcass bees build their honey-cell, extracting sweetness from putrescence."

The Richmond Enquirer discusses the amendment to the Constitution in an unusually calm spirit, and comes to the following conclusion:

"We are compelled to conclude, and so to express our opinion, that there is nothing for us to hope from a vote for the Constitutional amendment; that we cannot vote for it honestly, because we do not approve of it, that we cannot vote for it with honor; that we should leave the revolutionary changes on which the dominant party are resolved, to be consummated by themselves, and should not aid to cover our own injury and humiliation thus effected, by mere constitutional forms."

Mr. John Forsyth, the editor of the Mobile Register, is writing letters to his paper from New York, detailing his interviews with Mayor Hoffman and other Johnson leaders, and giving as follows his theory of the coming attempt at a coup d'etat,—for which, it will be noticed, he makes the mistake of not considering democratic gains necessary:

"But the final struggle in the great national contest will be at Washington in the organization of the next Congress. If the conservatives hold their own, the South will be counted in the organization, and the two will constitute a quorum. Washington will be the battle-ground—whether a bloody one or not, will depend on the fighting temper of the radicals. The true Union men do not regard the present rump as a Congress of the United States in the meaning of the Constitution, and their purpose is to organize a Congress of the Constitution. If the struggle resolves itself into an issue of force, the war of revolution started at the centre will widen its circle, and soon set the whole North in a blaze."

The Richmond Dispatch urges the President not to wait for the re-assembling of Congress, but to deny its authority at once. It says:

"The Louisville Courier urges the President no longer to recognize 'the present piece of a Congress' until it admits the Southern members—to 'protect himself by denying its legitimacy and authority, and resisting its arbitrary and illegal enactments.'—We hope to learn before long that the President has taken up with this idea. There is no use in temporizing with such men as the Radicals, who have no more conception of the binding force of constitutional obligations than a blind man has of colors. They repudiate every duty they owe to the Southern people as joint owners of the Union, and speak of us and our States as if we belonged to them. It is no slander to say that the Radicals have lost all sense of honor as between man and man in their insane hatred of the Southern people. If they treat one another at home as they propose to treat us, it must be a delightful country to live in—equal to Central Africa."

The Richmond Times contemplates the same event, and carries its look into futurity still further than Mr. Forsyth, predicting an entire revolution in our form of government, resulting in an Andrew Johnson monarchy. We quote a few sentences:

"Call it a despotism if you choose, but to this complexion must America come at last, if revolutionary excesses be not arrested. In the agony of their suffering, in the wildness of their despair, the people, themselves, from Maine to California, will, like the Hebrews of old when tired of their prophets, clamor for a king, whose strength and majesty and power shall silence the turbulence of the rabble, the sedition of conspirators, and calm the troubled waters of civil and political strife. . . . Whenever he comes, and by force restores order, confirms peace, quells faction and prevents bloodshed and anarchy, many, perhaps will call him a usurper, but he will in fact be the savior of his country, and those who shall accuse him of destroying her liberties will forget that radicalism had destroyed them before he came upon the scene."

Another issue of the same paper thus recognizes the demoralization and disaster which have befallen the President's coalition in the North:

"The Maine and Vermont elections utterly demoralized the author of the address of the Philadelphia Convention, and, in imitation of Saturn, he is devouring his own offspring. Indeed, the coalition of Northern parties, from which such happy results were anticipated, has fallen to pieces, and those who were six weeks ago most vociferous in advocating the policy of the President are now deserting it, and advocating the adoption of the Congressional Amendment. The New York Herald, Times and Post have already gone over bag and baggage to the enemy, and thousands of time-serving demagogues are in motion, or busily packing up and preparing to go over. A defeat to the conservatives in Pennsylvania would give the finishing blow to the conservative party."

A leading Texas paper, the Houston Journal, rebukes Northern critics of the South with the following candid explanation:

"Instead of leading our youths to the grave of a confederate soldier, and making him, as the youthful Hannibal was made to do, to swear eternal hostility to those who had made war upon his people, we lead them back into the paths of the Union, and we teach them the same lesson of patriotism that we ourselves once learned."

This is just the difficulty; the loyal people of the North do not want the youths of any part of our country to learn "the same lesson of patriotism" which the present generation in Texas "once learned" and which led them into armed treason. The loyal people do not want the youths so brought up that they shall ever say, as the Houston Journal says in this year, 1866:

"Our lips are still swollen with the powder of the cartridges that we bit; our hands still burn with the red fire of the hot gun-barrel; yet we forgive and we forget."

This assurance that the offending party "forgives and forgets" leads us to suspect that something may yet be wrong in the lesson taught to the rising generation in Texas.

THE AUTHORSHIP OF THE HULSEMAN LETTER. Shortly after the death of the lamented Everett we published the substance of a statement regarding the authorship of the celebrated Hulseman letter, made by John Taylor, Daniel Webster's land steward at Franklin, N. H., at the time the letter was written. This statement asserted that Mr. Webster not only wrote the letter, but that at intervals during the progress of its composition he read portions of it to Mr. Taylor, and asked—half jocularly—his opinion respecting its sentiments. The authorship of said letter, as is well known, has been claimed for Mr. Everett, but a correspondent of the National Intelligencer, who has been roving about Mr. Webster's birth place and old home at Franklin, N. H., furnishes the following particular evidence of Mr. Webster's authorship of the document:

When Mr. Webster was making his annual visit here in 1851, after the letter had been communicated to the Austrian Minister in December, 1850, Worcester Webster, a favorite cousin of the great statesman, and Judge Nesmith made him a visit together, and while there the letter becoming a subject of conversation, Worcester Webster, standing near the table in the east room, in the presence of Daniel Webster, who was sitting at the table, said to Judge Nesmith, "This is the table upon which the Hulseman letter was written, and there are the inkstand and the pen used in writing it. Judge Nesmith asked how long it took to write it, and Mr. Worcester Webster replied, "About two hours. Mr. Webster walked the room and dictated it to a secretary or copyist, who took it down, and it was revised and finished the next forenoon." Worcester Webster and his wife had been on a visit to the Elm's farm a few days previous to this occurrence. A short time afterward I was at the Elm's farm with Judge Nesmith, when he stated to me, in the presence of Mr. Webster, the same facts as to the Hulseman letter, the table and pen, while we were in the east room, which had been stated to him as above explained. Daniel Webster never had the reputation of appropriating to his own credit the work of others, and those who knew him best will, in the face of these thoroughly attested facts, be the last to believe that letter to have originated in any other mind than his own.

The Union party in North Carolina is pledged to support the Constitutional Amendment, and the measure is already gaining new friends in the State. The Newbern Times, hitherto a Johnson organ, said recently:

Nothing, to our mind, is clearer than that Congress has the right to fix the terms of re-admission for the Southern States; and as the President's policy seemed to give such general satisfaction, we had hoped Congress would have adopted it at the last session and that ere this we would have been admitted; but in this we were mistaken. As Congress, therefore, has put forth a policy, clearly having the right to do so—a policy, too, which differs so slightly with that of the Executive—it is reasonable to suppose, and we do suppose, that the President will yet acquiesce, and that these two branches of the government will yet harmonize on the subject of reconstruction. One thing is certain, the Congressional policy will succeed in the end whether the President harmonizes or not. The Raleigh Sentinel, the Governor's organ at Raleigh, says it will not submit to the Constitutional Amendment. Very well, it can do as it pleases about that. It can stand just as stubborn as it likes, but it will stand in a hopeless minority, for the people of North Carolina will ratify it by an overwhelming majority, just as soon as they are convinced it is the best they can do. The truth is, the people have been bamboozled by quack politicians and demagogues about as long as they can bear it anyhow, and are about ready to take their own matters into their own hands.

DOOLITTLE DONE BROWN. While Senator Doolittle was making a stump speech at Kenosha, Wisconsin, and expatiating on his own consistency and charging the Republicans with deserting him, an intelligent old gentleman named Gleason opened a slight controversy as follows:

Gleason—I pronounce you, sir, a traitor to liberty!

Doolittle—You villainous, gray-haired old man, do you dare come here and insult me in this way, after I have been invited here to address the people? (This was spoken in a very offensive manner, as though addressed to a servant.)

Gleason—I am not talking to my master, but to one of the servants of the American people. I pronounce you a traitor to liberty!

Doolittle—I have sacrificed more in this war than you.

Gleason—No you haven't!

Doolittle—Yes I have!

Gleason—No you haven't!

Doolittle—I have given a son to the country.

Gleason—And I have given two sons to the country!

Doolittle—But are your sons dead, sir?

Gleason—No; thank God, they came out of the war alive.

Doolittle—But my son is dead!

Gleason—Well, sir, it is a blessing to him that he is dead, and has not survived to witness the shame of his father!

Gen. L. C. Baker, E. J. Conger and L. D. Baker have entered suit in this city against Morgan, Smith, Dougherty and others who received the government reward for the capture of the assassination conspirators. THE INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS COLLEGE ASSOCIATION.

We present in this issue the portraits of the members of BRYANT, STRATTON & CO.'S International Business College Convention, recently assembled in Convention at Cleveland, Ohio. This association of Colleges, as will be seen in the engraving, embraces nearly all the leading cities in the United States and Canada. The purpose of the Association is to combine the best talent in the country in perfecting and putting in practice a system of business education which shall be commensurate with the public demands. The enterprise was inaugurated by Messrs. BRYANT & STRATTON, in the city of Cleveland, in 1853, and has met with success altogether unprecedented. In fact, through the individual institution, and the admirable text-books which these gentlemen have produced, the sphere and limits of a purely business education have been as clearly defined as those of law, medical, and theological schools; and it is becoming almost as necessary that a young man, in fitting himself for business, should graduate at one of these Colleges, as that a contestant for professional honors and success should take a preliminary course in an institution specially devoted to the studies incidental to such profession.

The great interest which at present this subject is creating in the public mind renders this recognition of the leading enterprise eminently proper.

An Effectual Worm Medicine

BROWN'S VERMIFUGE COMFITS,

OR WORM LOZENGES. Much sickness, undoubtedly, with children and adults, attributed to other causes, is occasioned by worms. The "VERMIFUGE COMFITS," although effectual in destroying worms, can do no possible injury to the most delicate child.—This valuable combination has been successfully used by physicians, and found to be safe and sure in eradicating worms, so hurtful to children.

CHILDREN HAVING WORMS require immediate attention, as neglect of the trouble often causes prolonged sickness.

SYMPTOMS OF WORMS IN CHILDREN are often overlooked. Worms in the stomach and bowels cause irritation, which can be removed only by the use of a sure remedy. The combination of ingredients used in making Brown's "Vermifuge Comfits" is such as to give the best possible effect with safety.

KNOWLES'

Vegetable Hair Restorer!

AS A HAIR PREPARATION this stands without a rival—has proved itself by the thousands who have tested its virtues for the past three years,

THE ONLY RELIABLE RESTORER

Of Gray, Faded, or Diseased Hair, to its original color, condition and former beauty.

It is not a Dye, being a Vegetable Compound and not injurious in its application: but is warranted to restore Gray, Faded, or Diseased Hair to its original color in 20 days.

By its invigorating properties, promotes a luxuriant growth on Bald Heads, in all cases where such a result is possible; prevents the hair from falling off; eradicates dandruff, humors, and all other impurities from the scalp; and as a Restorer and Dressing combined, it has no equal.

The great and increasing sales of this preparation attest the high value in which it is held; and the fact that its reputation has been established solely upon its own merit and worth—the trial of a single bottle will convince the most skeptical of its virtues.

Four Years of Fighting

BOOK OF BATTLES:

A VOLUME of Narrative, Incident, and Personal Observation, with the Army and Navy, East, West, North, and South, from the first battle of Bull Run to the Fall of Richmond, by CHARLES CARLETON COFFIN,

"CARLETON,"

The Army Correspondent of the "Boston Journal," and author of "Winning His Way," "Following the Flag," "My Days and Nights on the Battle-Field," etc., beautifully illustrated, with a Steel Engraving of the Author, in the highest style of art, by RITCHIE, and FULL-PAGE ILLUSTRATIONS.

His letters have given delight to millions of loyal hearts in our own land, and many of them have been republished in England, France, and Germany. His descriptions of battles are marked by clearness and vigor of comprehensive statement, a truthfulness and correctness which give them a high historic value.

The volume is wholly historic. In addition to the description of battles, incidents of marches, the camp, and the hospital, there is a chapter of exceeding interest, giving the secret history of the rebel cotton loan in England and France, from original documents which were obtained in Richmond.

This volume will be sold by subscription exclusively. It forms a handsome octavo volume of about 650 pages,—668 of reading matter,—printed on fine paper and in clear type. Price in Leather, $4.50; cloth, $3.50.

The agent, J. W. WELLINGTON, will be at Bartlett's Book Store, corner of Exchange street and Kenduskeag Bridge, from 8 to 9 A. M., and 12 to 2 P. M., where copies of the work can be seen.

FOUR YEARS OF FIGHTING is sold wholly by authorised agents, and never put in the Book Stores.

IN THE MARKET.

"PEERLESS," FOR COAL OR WOOD.

THE "PEERLESS" has all the advantages of the popular stoves in use, together with such NEW FEATURES as justify the manufacturers in calling it the BEST COOKING STOVE in the market.

It is the "PEERLESS," because it is superior to all other Cooking Stoves in Economy, Simplicity, Cleanliness, Baking, Roasting and Beauty.

1st, ECONOMY. A patented method of heating the air and conveying it through the oven, saves from twenty to thirty per cent. of fuel.

2d, SIMPLICITY. It is easily managed. The fire can be perfectly controlled, and kept through an entire season without rekindling.

3d, CLEANLINESS. No dust escapes while shaking or dumping the grate.

4th, BAKING. Its large oven, wherein all parts are of equal temperature, bakes as evenly as a brick oven, and that without turning the article. It bakes quickly. It will bake upon the oven rack quickly, evenly and well at the same time the oven bottom is fully employed in baking or roasting.

5th, ROASTING. A current of hot air constantly passing through the oven, so thoroughly ventilates it, that it roasts as well as a tin kitchen.

6th, BEAUTY. Made of the best iron, it will not crack. Well mounted, artistically designed and smoothly cast, it is the most beautiful as well as the most serviceable stove in the market.

Each stove is WARRANTED to be and to do all that is claimed for it.

WASHINGTON, Oct 21.

The employing printers of this city have withdrawn their names from their late protest against the eight hour system, and thus the typographical society is triumphant.

The President has recognized Jose Augustine Quintero, as Consul of Costa Rica at New Orleans, and the following persons as Vice Consulates for Sweden and Norway: Martin Lewis at Baltimore, Wm U Perkins at New Orleans, C. Schuarz Kaft at Norfolk, and S. Palm at Austin, Texas.

On the first inst. the Commissioner of Indian affairs invited proposals for a very large supply of Indian goods, such as blankets, dry goods and naval wares. The bids were to have been opened to-morrow, but at the suggestion of the new commissioner of Indian affairs, who is to enter upon his duties Nov. 1. The advertisement is withdrawn for reason that the contract should not be made by the retiring, but by the incoming commissioner.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.

Official news from Chihuahua up to the 24th ult., has been received in this city.

President Juarez had appointed General Avanalla, military Governor of the State of Durango, and ordered him to advance from Parral to the city of Durango, with his command.

It is expected that General Avanalla will have no difficulty in capturing that city, he acting in concert with other forces.

As soon as Durango shall have been taken President Juarez will leave Chihuahua for Monterey.

An official circular from the Department of Foreign Affairs of the so-called government of Maximilian, dated at the city of Mexico Sept. 28, 1866, and signed by the Sub-Secretary ad interim, J. D. Pevida, concludes with the following paragraph:

"Day after to-morrow his Majesty the Emperor will probably leave the capital for Cuernevaca, with the object of taking some rest and restoring his health in that excellent climate, which agrees so well with his temperament."

This official announcement is quite different from the statements of a newspaper correspondent, that Maximilian had already left for San Luis, where he was to put himself at the head of the army.

Official news from Vera Cruz to the 5th inst, has been received here with the following information:

The 81st Regiment of the Line, which arrived at Vera Cruz to embark, and which has been ordered back to Orizaba, had lost eighty pack mules with a great deal of its baggage, the guerrillas having captured them. A company which was sent to the rescue of the baggage was completely cut up by Liberals at Chiquihuite—its losses being 20 killed and wounded or captured.

Gen Castlemain was hourly expected at Vera Cruz. It was thought he would stop the embarkation of French troops.

HARTFORD, Ct., Oct. 21.

A shocking murder was perpetrated in West Hartford last evening. The victim was a Mr. Julius Thompson, a bachelor 40 years of age, who lived with his mother and sister, on the road leading to Lalcote Mountain. Between 7 and 8 o'clock a young man called at the house and requested Mr. Thompson to assist him, as his wagon had broken down. Mr. Thompson went out with the stranger, and was found by his sister, about an hour afterwards, under a tree on the highway, brutally murdered. His skull was broken open with some instrument or club. No arrests have as yet been made, but our Hartford police are on the track of the supposed murderer. A suspicious character has been seen for several days hovering about the village, and is supposed to be the murderer. Robbery is supposed to have been his object, as Thompson had some money and bonds in the house.

AUGUSTA, Ga., Oct. 21.

At a preliminary examination before the Judge of the County Court, three of the parties arrested for the murder of a freedman in Columbia county, were discharged, and one, named John Petrin, committed to await his trial upon charge of murder, at the next term of the Supreme Court.

The conflict in Perry county between the civil and military authorities, has been adjusted.

Gen. Tillson has ordered the prisoners in Fort Pulaski, charged with offenses against freedmen, to be delivered up to the civil courts, the people pledging themselves to protect freedmen in their rights.

A notice from the Executive Department of this State says that all bonds and coupons of Georgia, now due and not issued, in aid of the late war, can be funded in mortgage bonds of the State, bearing 7 per cent. interest from July, 1866. Coupons payable in New York or London, can be funded in the above bonds at the National Bank of the Republic in New York.

BRATTLEBORO, (Vt.) Oct. 20.

The officers of the French fleet in New London harbor visited this place to-day in company with Capt. Lowery, commander of the U S frigate Sabine, and his associate officers, by invitation of the directors of the New London and Northern Railroad. They were taken in carriages and shown our beautiful mountain scenery, and then partook of a sumptuous dinner at the Brattleboro House, at which the cordial feelings existing between this country and France were elegantly expressed by Capt. Rabourt and his associates, and by Capt Lowery Representative Brandage and Gen. Phelps.

They returned to Washington at four o'clock.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 21.

Gov. Swann returned last night from his visit to President Johnson.

It is understood that a compromise has been proposed by parties representing the Governor, to the effect that the commissioners should appoint one of the three judges in each ward, and one clerk of elections from the conservative party.

This proposition is now under consideration by the Police commissioners, who have been in consultation with their counsel and prominent citizens.

It is understood that the commissioners will not appear in person before the Governor to-morrow, but through their counsel will file a response denying the power of the Governor to try the charges, but at the same time declaring their readiness to meet the accusation against them before any court of competent jurisdiction.

The commissioners have not entertained any proposition looking to any compromise, but declare their determination of resisting any encroachments upon their functions.

NEW YORK, Oct. 21.

Steamship Hermann, from Southampton 10th inst., has arrived.

The summary of news by her is as follows:

ENGLAND.

There had been a great meeting of working classes in Leeds.

The Times says of it:

Certainly no political movement has for a long time attracted so much attention, as was proved on Monday by the collecting together of so great a multitude, in order to discuss and support the manhood suffrage associations which have been established in Leeds.

The London Star says:

Fifteen thousand persons were present. Many speeches were made and resolutions passed. Mr. Bright made a powerful speech.

About 1300 English volunteers have availed themselves of the invitation to attend to Brussels fetes. Lords Lindsay and Barry are in command.

Lord Cowley will continue ambassador at Paris for some months.

The cholera still continues in London and in the South.

Three ships have lately arrived at Nikol Ajunck from Hamburg with material for the Russo-American Telegraph. The entire material is in excellent condition.

The Emperor and Empress of the French do not go to Pampeluna.

The Empress of Mexico was alarmingly ill at Rome.

The patent annexing Hanover has been promulgated. The King protested against annexation to Prussia, but relieved his subjects from their oaths of allegiance to him.

Immediately upon the ratification of the treaty between Italy and Austria, the fortifications of Poxheira, Mantua, Legrago, Verona, Palmanova and Venice, and the provinces of Venetia will be handed over to Gen Leboenf.

Apprehensions are entertained of a rising in Thessaly in Spirus. Regiments have been sent to the latter.

SUPERSTITION AT SEA. The New York World tells that after the death of John Van Buren, on board the Cunard steamer Scotia, a few days ago, the weather became tremendously stormy—the vessel having just sailed into the gale then raging along our eastern coast. The coincidence of Mr. Van Buren's death with the occurrence of the hurricane had an effect upon minds of some of the working seamen, which, though not novel, considering their superstitious tendencies, is interesting to relate, in reference to the present occasion. The sailors esteemed it very bad luck to keep the body on board, without instantly committing it to the deep, and were chagrined at the noble resolve of Commodore Judkins to bear the remains to our shore for interment. They requested its sea burial. It was refused. Still the storm continued, and the seamen considered the unconscious corpse a Jonah in their midst, not for this while encountering the utmost Indestructible timbers of the Scotia, and flourishing sheer really almost safely ensconced by her classified as follows: Seniors 24, Juniors 25, strength. It is stated that a movement was frustrated by detection, which they had covertly considered of not determined to cut the rope that held the boat on the port side, in which the coffined remains had been placed.

LOCAL AND STATE ITEMS.

—The weather for the past two weeks has been delightful. We are now enjoying a pleasant Indian summer, more suggestive of ice creams than ice. The clerk of the weather is evidently endeavoring to make amends for the immense amount of unpleasant weather which he inflicted upon us during the summer months.

THE BELFAST TRIAL. The trial of Rufus Dwinel and others for throwing the office of the Bangor Democrat into the street in 1861, which has been in progress at Belfast for the past two weeks, is not yet ended.—The council have made their arguments, and Judge Tapley will deliver his charge to the Jury this morning. Mr. Jewett's argument for the defence is spoken of as of great force and power. Mr. McCrillis undoubtedly made an able effort, but we have heard it principally commented upon in connection with his celebrated 10th of August speech in 1861, which the opponents of the throwing out, at that time characterized as a preparatory lecture. The contrast between the two speeches astonished everybody who heard them both.

The evidence is not strong enough to convict any of the defendants except John Tabor and Capt. Mann, and it is probable that they will be brought in guilty and small damages assessed.

AN OUTRAGE. Two gentlemen and two ladies riding in a double wagon, were assaulted near Hicborn Hill by a gang of rowdies a few evening since. One ruffian seized the horse by the head and the others attacted the occupants of the wagon with rocks. Fortunately the horse sprung away from the rascal who held him, and the party escaped with a few bruises.

HARPERS MAGAZINE for November, has been received from D. Bugbee & Co. It contains, among other interesting matter "Florida—Her crime and punishment" which is a continuation of a series of articles by John S. C. Abbott, entitled "Heroic deeds of heroic men." It has also several other illustrated papers of considerable interest. As usual the monthly record of Current Events, Editor's Easy Chair, and Editor's Drawer are worth the price of the Magazine.

ACCIDENT. The Watervill Mail says that a little son of Mr. George Rice, fell into a spring and was drowned on Tuesday last. The little fellow was about three years of age.

—The Machias Union gives an account of the efforts of Mr. N. W. Foster of East Machias who is devoting a good deal of time, attention and labor to the work of re-stocking our New England rivers with the valuable fish which have been driven from them by the numerous dams erected within the past forty or fifty years. He has demonstrated that it can be easily done, by providing sufficient fishways in the dams, and then depositing the spawn of the fish in the upper waters at the proper season. The young fish will next year return to their native homes if they can get there, for the purpose of depositing their own spawn. Thus, as he believes, an immense amount may annually be added or restored to the resources of the State. He has proved the truth of his theory by stocking ponds and streams in the eastern part of the State with salmon, shad, alewives, trout, &c. He has recently been on the Merrimac river, where there are eighteen dams, giving his advice as to the construction of fishways there. If there is a good way constructed through a dam, the fish will find it, and will go over any number of them till they reach a proper spawning ground.

ACCIDENT. One day last week Nathan Parks, who lives near the Boundary line, met with a severe accident, caused by being thrown in some manner against a sharp pointed hoe handle while driving a span of unruly horses, producing a dangerous wound in the region of the abdomen. We learn that he has since died from the effects of the injury received.—[Oxford Democrat.

TESTIMONIAL TO HON. HANNIBAL HAMLIN. The gentlemen of the Custom House, says the Boston Advertiser, have caused to be prepared a very elegant testimonial of their regard for the recent collector of this port, Mr. Hamlin. It is a silver service, consisting of a salver of the largest size, and six pieces, all very tastefully engraved and ornamented the several pieces bearing the initial letter "H" in German text. The salver has the following scription in the centre:

"Presented to
HON. HANNIBAL HAMLIN,
by the
EMPLOYEES AT THE CUSTOM HOUSE,
as a token their esteem,
Boston, Oct. 9 1866."

The cost of the plate as bullion, was, we believe, about $500, but the value to be set on it by its new owner, could probably not be reckoned in greenbacks. It is every appropriate and a well deserved gift.

—Under the temporary presidency of Gen. Chamberlain, Bowdoin College, Me., is flourishing. It has a total of 282 students, classified as follows: Seniors 24, Juniors 25, Sophomores 85, Freshmen 87, Medical 111.

PATENTS. Patents have been granted this week to Freeman M. Harrison and John A. Hopper, of South Berwick, for improved mop head; Nathan Hawkes, of Appleton, for improvement in combined Cultivator and ditcher; W. W. Doane and W. P. Burr, of Brewer, for improvement in skids for supporting barrels; Isaac Allard, of Belfast, assignor to self and R. C. Turner, of same place for wood sawing machine.

—A friend writing to the editor of the Lewiston Journal from the South says he dares not address a northern paper or append his signature to any account of the true state of affairs in the late rebel states, for the letter would certainly be opened and the author stand in danger of losing his life. This is a fitting commentary on the workings of "my policy."

—The charge of Judge Kent to the Grand Jury on Tuesday morning was one of the most impressive efforts of the kind we ever listened to. It held the jury, bar and audience in almost breathless silence to its close. The venerable Judge commands the highest respect and esteem of all who come into intercourse with him.—[Farmington Chronicle.

ASSAULT. John and Wm. Montgomery —brothers—were furnished lodgings Saturday night at the expense of the city, for committing an assault upon the night watchman at Morse & Co.'s mill. The man received a severe flogging. The boys say he deserved it. Probably the examination this morning will convince them that it isn't safe to wallop every man that they happen to conclude needs a little exercise in that direction.

—The Piscataquis Sabbath School Convention, will hold its next Semi-Annual Meeting at Garland, Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 23d and 24th.

—Rev. Josiah H. Newhall, Pastor of the Methodist E. Church, at Oxford, died at Lynn, Mass., on Saturday of last week, aged about thirty years.

—The Methodists of Skowhegon are building a fine church, which will be finished another season. It has two spires, one 55 feet high and the other 137. A correspondent of the Star says it is one of the most imposing churches in the interior of the State. It was designed and built by C. F. Douglass, of Norridgewock, the same gentleman who built the Eaton Academy at Norridgewock.

GENERAL ITEMS.

—The laying of the corner stone of the first Congregational Church at Washington and the installation of the pastor, Dr. Boynston, occurred on the 4th inst. The address was by Major General Howard.

—The society of Rev. Dr. Chapin, of New York, is erecting one of the finest churches in the country. It is of brown stone and is located on the corner of Fifth Avenue and Forty-Third street. Its cost will be rising one hundred thousand dollars and it will soon be completed.

—A Fenian in England asserts that liquid fire and combustibles, similar to those lately discovered in Liverpool, are stored away in all the large towns of England.

—The total loss of insurance companies by the Quebec fire exceeds three millions.—The Quebec Company loses $250,000, the Liverpool, London, and Globe $47,000, the London and Lancashire, $24,000, and the British America $60,000.

—Phillips Academy, at Andover, has just received a gift of $25,000 from Mr. George Peabody.

—At an agricultural dinner the following toast was given: "The game of fortune—shuffle the cards as you will, Spades will always win."

—The Marie Antoinette bonnets are the style in Paris. They are composed of velvet, oak leaves and jets.

—There are twenty-eight thousand five hundred tons of paper manufactured weekly in Great Britain.

—An Arkansas editor was recently shot at in an affray, but his life was preserved by a bundle of unpaid bills in his breast pocket.

—Kentucky planters say that the tobacco crop of the present season is the best ever known in that State.

—The building in which is to be held the French exhibition for all the world, covers forty-eight acres of the Champ de Mars in Paris.

—A woman in Louisville lately gave birth to twins, and shortly afterwards sold them to the neighbors—the boy for two dollars and the girl for two pairs of children's shoes.

—In order to obtain the right to vote, Frank Blair took the Missouri test oath, last week, and it is said took several other oaths at the same time.

—The Adjutant General of Vermont accounts for every one of the 34,000 men furnished by that State for the war, except 75.

—An exchange says that the Masons tho't Johnson was not a fit person to lay the corner stone of the Douglas monument, because he had "swung around the circle" so much that he wasn't "on the square."

—The New York Sun, in speaking of Mrs. Stanton running as an independent candidate for Congress in the Eighth District, doubts the propriety of sending ladies to Congress, as it might induce the members to "pair off" too frequently.

—The Ceylon papers state that as soon as the Atlantic cable was laid, a captain of a ship arrived at Point de Galle telegraphed to his owners at New York, through the agents in London, but the answer was sent direct from New York to Galle. The distance which the despatch and the reply travelled was twenty thousand miles, and the cost was $250.

EMIGRATION WESTWARD. A steady stream of emigration is pouring through Indianapolis. Hardly a day passes but what long trains of wagons drive through. Most of them are going to Illinois, Missouri and Kansas, but some intend to stop in Indiana.

—It is said that the expenditures of two dollars and a half would properly have saved the Evening Star and the lives of her passengers; the assertion being based on the theory that the sheave in which the rudder chain worked was a cheap one, not grooved with iron and that allowed the chain slip-ped out and became unmanageable.

—It appears by official statistics that the number of marriages in Ohio for the year ending July 1, 1866, is full twenty per cent above that in any one year, either before or during the war. Probably there has been a similar increase in other States.

—When Judge ——, a member of Congress from Ohio years ago, was opposed at the second election on account of intemperate habits, he good-naturedly admitted the fact, but insisted that he never was so drunk as not to fairly represent his constituents.—He was elected by a triumphant majority.

—Mrs. Richards, widow of Capt. Mark Richards, who was shot by Copperheads, while acting as enrolling officer in preparing for the draft, and who was appointed to a post-office in Wisconsin by President Lincoln, has been removed, and one Thomas Duffey—a deserter, a man who ran away from the draft and fled to Canada—has been appointed in her place.

—A correspondent of the Army and Navy Journal says that experiments at Fortress Monroe prove incontestibly what was well known to practical naval officers before, viz:—that no monitor in the navy would stand for any length of time the hammering from a solid 15 inch shot; and it is doubtful whether it would stand more than three or four blows.

—A boy of nine years old lately said to a boy of seven, "I am surprised to hear you talk so much about the girls. I didn't at your age."

What the Boys in Blue Say.

Hear what the boys in blue say: 'Yes, Treason is a crime
That should be rendered odious in ev'ry age and clime;
And even death can scarce efface the sin—so dark its hue!'
That's what the boys in blue say—the noble boys in blue!

Hear what the boys in blue say: 'We've passed the stern ordeal,
Through seas of blood to help maintain our blessed country's weal;
We want no traitor's hand to guide—we've plenty that are true.'
That's what the boy's in blue say—the honest boys in blue.

Hear what the boys in blue say: 'What! truckle at the shrine
Whose corner stone rests on the bones of friends of yours and mine?
Back! Treason! thou art odious! in vain to plead or sue.'
That's what the boys in blue say—the trusty boys in blue.

Hear what the boys in blue say: 'These matchless limbs remind
How treason plucked the life from out the ones we left behind;
But, single-handed, crutched and lame, we'll fight the battle through.'
That's what the boy's in blue say—the loyal boys in blue.

Hear what the boys in blue say: 'No tongue that murmured 'Pause,'
When we were hurling back the hosts of that unholy cause,
Shall speak for us in Congress halls, nor tell us what to do.'
That's what the boys in blue say—the sturdy boys in blue.

Now what the boys in blue say will swell the mighty strain,
Whose primal notes have just been heard from loyal-loving Maine;
And when November calls New York to do her duty too,
In thunder tones the boys will speak—the noble boys in blue.

Albany, Sept. 24, 1866. W. C. W.

An Incident of the War in Germany.

A reserve of thirty thousand men were stationed in and near Leipsic during the late war.

'My dear wife, a soldier quartered on us. How on earth shall we support him?'

So said a poor mechanic, who, with a large family, inhabited a small room in the fifth story of a house in the Hain street. The good woman cleaned out a small garret room, which served her as her store room, and with a bed, chair and table, made it fit to live in.

The soldier quartered on them arrived—one of the Prussian Reserves. The citizens led him to his room and begged him to make himself at home.

'I know that it's only a garret, and it looks out on the roof; but we ourselves have nothing better. When you are ready dinner will be ready.'

To the delight of the citizen, who was in some anxiety on the subject, the bearded soldier was satisfied with everything, and with a lighter heart, the host returned to his expectant wife.

Dinner was ready, and the soldier entered the family room. A great number of little children were seated around the table on which was placed a great pot of hot coffee and a large loaf of freshly-baked bread. But for the soldier himself the good wife brought a large broiled sausage, and a plate of fresh salad, begging him to cut the loaf. [It is a superstition in Germany that it brings peace and good luck into a family when a guest slices the loaf.]

And the militia man did so. He cut slice by slice from the loaf, gave out a slice of sausage with each piece, and so divided it out with the children and parents. But the more pleased the children became the more serious was the face of the mother, until, like a true housewife in trouble, she exclaimed:

'Ah, I see what we give isn't good enough for you, but we have the will to do our very best—and we have done it.'

'My dear woman, you altogether misunderstand me.' The simplest food tastes deliciously to a man of my habits' when I can only see smiling faces around me. You'll soon be convinced of that.'

And then he ate the remains of the sausage and salad with evident relish, chatting with the family while the great black coffee pot was put on active duty.

We need not say that the husband and wife congratulated themselves on having such a model and modest guest. But they had not seen the best of him. Toward evening a commissionaire, bearing a very large basket, came panting up the stairs, knocked on the door of the mechanic, and set down his burden. On opening it, it was found to be filled with hams, hard sausages, butter, cheese, bread, and all delicacies familiar to those who study the windows of victualing shops.

'But what is to be done?' cried the good woman. 'We haven't ordered these things. —Why, all we own would not pay for them. Surely you've made a mistake.'

'No, it's all right; number, name, place—all right! And the Prussian soldier who paid for them said he would soon be here himself.'

'There now, that's what I call a modest, decent, gentlemanly man! There's enough there for a lord's kitchen. Goodness knows what we're to do with it all!'

While the good woman went on with these comments the soldier returned.

'Good folks,' said he, 'don't feel hurt, I beg, because I have ventured to give a helping hand to the house-keeping. I saw today at dinner that it was hard times with you, and yet you brought me the very best you could afford. So just let me take my turn, if you please, at being provider, and doing the marketing. Here is enough to last for one while, and if I don't return to dine or sup, you must help yourself all the same. As long as I am quartered here the supply shall be kept up, and lest you should be afraid that I can't afford it, I beg you, my dear landlady, to look into my treasury.'

Saying this, he opened his portemonaie and showed the astonished woman so many gold pieces, that she started with amazement. Then the soldier explained that though only a private in the ranks, he had been a civilian; that he was a nobleman, and a wealthy land proprietor.

This is an agreeable little by-sketch taken during the war-time, when so many abounded which are anything but pleasing to contemplate—but the best of it is that it is true.

RAILROAD SIGNALS.—Among the thousands who ride by rail every day, there are probably few who have taken pains to inform themselves of the meaning of the different signals used by the conductors and engineers on railroad trains. Their signification is as follows:

One whistle—'Down brakes.'
Two whistles—'Off brakes.'
Three whistles—'Back up.'
Continuous whistles—'Danger.'

A rapid succession of short whistles is the cattle alarm, at which the brakes will always be put down.

A sweeping parting of hands on level of eye, is a signal to 'go ahead.'

A downward motion of the hand, with extended arms, to stop.

A beckoning motion of one hand, to back.

A lantern raised and lowered vertically, is a signal for starting; swung at right angles or crossways the track, to stop; swung in a circle, back the train.

A red flag waved upon the track must be regarded as a signal of danger. So of other signals given with energy.

Hoisted at a station, is a signal for trains to stop.

Stuck up by the roadside it is a signal of danger on the track ahead.

Carried unfurled upon an engine, is a warning that another engine or train is on its way.

Life on the Plains.

INTERESTING REMINISCENCES OF KIT CARSON.—A correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial, has had an interview with Kit Carson, who communicated to him the following interesting reminiscences.

'All the Indian hunters and trappers ride with short stirrups. I am almost bow legged from it. It is more important to the Indian than the white man, as it is only by aid of the stirrup that he can shift his position, hanging down on one side, so as to conceal all his body but his legs. His leg is all you have to fire at, as he throws himself on the side buttocks, or around the neck of the horse. On this account, also, they hang the stirrup well forward.

Some one referred to Carson's intimate knowledge of Indian strategy. 'Why, yes, I am up to a good many of their tricks, but they fooled me once—they fooled me pretty bad that time. I'll tell you about it. It was in—let me see—yes, 1835. There were six of us hunters out after buffalo, up in the Snake country. We had made a pretty good hunt, and came into the camp at night, intending to start the next morning with our hunt. Well we camped. Had a good many dogs with us, some of them good dogs. They had barked a good deal, and we heard wolves. As I lay by the fire, I saw one or two wolves sneaking about the camp—one of them quite in it. Gordon wanted to fire, but I would not let him, for fear of hitting the dogs.

I had just a little suspicion that the wolves might be Indians, but when I saw them turn short around, and heard the snap of their teeth when the dogs came close to one of 'em, I felt easy then, and made sure it was a wolf. The Indian fooled me that time. Confound the rascal'—becoming animated—'confound the rascal, do you think he did'nt have two old buffalo bones in his hand that he cracked together every time he turned to snap at the dogs? Well, by and by we dozed off asleep, and it was'nt long before I was awoke by a crash and a blaze. I jumped straight for the mules and held them. If the Indians had been smart they'd a had us all, but they run as soon as they fired. They killed but one of us—poor Davis. He had five bullets in his body and eight in his buffalo robe. The Indians were a band of Sioux, on the war path after the Snakes, and came on us by accident. They tried to waylay us next morning, but we killed three of them, including their chief.

When I first went over into California in 1829, the valleys were full of Indian tribes. Indians were thick everywhere, and I saw a great deal of some large flourishing tribes. When I was there again in 1859, they had all disappeared, and when I inquired about certain tribes I had seen on the spot, I was told by the people living there that they had never heard of them.'

CARELESS BUSINESS MEN.—It may be stated that it is not possible for a man to be careless in business affairs, or unmindful of his business obligations, without being weak or rotten in his personal character. Show me a man who never pays his notes when they are due, and who shuns the payment of his bills when it is possible, and I shall see a man whose moral character is beyond all question, bad. We have had illustrious examples of this lack of business exactness. We have had great men who were in the habit of borrowing money without repaying it. We have had a great many men whose business habits were simply scandalous—who never paid a bill unless when urged and worried, and who expended for their personal gratification every cent of money they could lay their hands upon. These delinquencies have been apologized for as among the eccentricities of genius, or as that unmindfulness of small affairs which naturally attends all greatness of intellect and intellectual effort, but the world had been too easy with them altogether. I could name great men—and the names of some of them arise before the readers of this letter—who were atrociously dishonest. I do not care how great these men were. I do not care how many amiable and admirable traits they possessed. They were dishonest and untrustworthy men in their business relations, and that single fact condemns them. I am ready to believe anything bad of a man who habitually neglects to fulfill his business obligations. Such a man is certainly rotten at heart. He is not to be trusted with a public responsibility, or a rum bottle, or a woman.—Timothy Titcomb.

REPLACE THE STONE.—One day, Gen. Washington and some of his officers, while staying at Boston, went to visit Chelsea. On their way, they stopped to rest and refresh themselves at the mansion of Mr. Dexter; a beautiful spot, surrounded by stately elms and green fields. They alighted, and after securing their horses under the trees, went to partake of the good cheer within.

As they came out, one of the gentlemen accidently knocked a stone from the wall which ran before the house. Washington told him he had better replace the stone.

'No,' answered the officer; I will leave that for somebody else.'

Washington then went quietly and put the stone up again, saying as he did so, 'I always make it my rule in visiting a place to leave things in as good order as I find them.

Let every boy and youth remember this declaration of the great and good Washington, and make it a rule of action through life.

Ritchie's Liquid Compass!

THE Ritchie Compass which has been the standard Compass in the navy for upwards of four years, and also in extensive use in the merchant service, should be used on every class of vessels where a compass is to be depended on. It combines all the qualities of a perfect instrument. To extreme sensitiveness and perfect steadiness is added a strength and durability which prevents them from getting out of order like other compasses. The reason for this is apparent to any one upon examination. A single trial of this compass has always resulted in its adoption and the rejection of every other kind.

Notice to Mill Owners and Millwrights.

Improved Lever Pressure Centre Vent ECONOMIZING

WATER WHEEL!

Invented and Patented by W. R. Close, BANGOR, MAINE.

THE Subscribers would ask the attention of Mill Owners and others interested in Water Wheels, to their Patent Centre Vent Wheels, manufactured at T. N. Egery's Foundry.

We claim superiority over other Wheels for various reasons, the chief of which is the economical use of water. Trials of these wheels the past season have demonstrated the fact that they will do the same work with one half the water required for any other wheel used on the Penobscot River.

2d.—The amount of water vented upon the wheel is self-regulated by a device embodied in the Patent; hence, when the saw is out of the cut, or the labor is in any way decreased, the speed of the wheel remains the same, thereby avoiding shocks to the machinery, and those break-downs which result from the sudden acceleration of speed, when a wheel does not regulate itself.

3d.—This is an anti-freezing wheel; by a patented arrangement, that trouble in wheels run in Northern climates is avoided. This wheel needs no "cutting out;" it never freezes.

4th.—It is equally well adapted to both horizontal and vertical Shafts; it is cheaper than any other Wheel, and can be readily applied to any old wooden or iron shaft without change of gearing.

By using this Wheel, a large majority of Mills can run double the time that they now do, for the reason that it can run with half the water required for any other; hence all those owning mills upon streams where the water is limited, will see the advantage of using these wheels.

BANGOR, Sept. 21, 1866.

Messrs. Dinsmore & Close:—Having put in operation, in our new Saw Mills at West Great Works, Oldtown, one of your new patent Mill Wheels, manufactured at Egery's foundry in this city, and fully tested it, we take pleasure in saying that it more than meets our expectations. We are now driving with it, under a nine and one-half feet head, a Clapboard, Sapping, and Shingle machines; Shingle jointer and two cutting-off saws, with but 204 inches of water, admitted or let on to the wheel through a trunk or spout measuring 12 inches wide and 17 inches high. Its operation gives us entire satisfaction, and we consider it superior to any other wheel within our knowledge, and cheerfully recommend it to all in want of wheels.

W. H. SMITH,
WM. T. PEARSON.

BANGOR, Sept. 21, 1866.

Having witnessed the operation of the above Water Wheel, in the mills of Messrs. Smith & Pearson at West Great Works, also in the mill of Messrs. Copeland, in Holden, and in Messrs. Comins' mill, in Bradley, both driving a 50 inch circular saw mill, I can with full confidence recommend them as possessing and combining qualities for power, economy in water, regularity of speed, and cheapness of construction, over any other water wheel known to me. THOS. N. EGERY.

WEST GREAT WORKS, Oldtown, Sept. 26, 1866.

Having as millwright, under the direction of Messrs. Smith & Pearson, charge of the erection of their new saw mills at this place, in which one of Close's Patented Water Wheels has been put in operation, I fully concur in the opinion given by Messrs. Smith & Pearson and Mr. Egery, as to the merits of said wheel. DAVID GATCHELL, Master Millwright.

NEWPORT, Sept. 24, 1866.

Messrs. Dinsmore & Close:—This may certify that I assisted the past summer in putting into the West Great Works mills at Oldtown, for Messrs. Smith & Pearson, one of your Patent Water Wheels, of seven feet diameter, made at T. N. Egery's foundry, and am pleased to say that in my opinion it requires for its successful operation the least quantity of water of any wheel I have ever seen, and I cheerfully recommend it to all who may be in want of wheels, especially upon privileges where the amount of water is limited. J. G. CHANDLER, Millwright.

HOLDEN, April 12, 1866.

Messrs. Dinsmore & Close:—This may certify that I have lately removed from my saw mill a "Brastow Water Wheel," and put instead one of your Water Wheels, and after a thorough trial I am satisfied that I can saw twice the amount of lumber I formerly sawed, and use not more than one-third the amount of water formerly used with the Brastow wheel, which wheel I have always considered a very economical one, and a privilege where the amount of water was limited. And I take pleasure in recommending your Wheel to all who use water wheels, especially to such as have a limited supply of water. THOMAS R. COPELAND.

I concur in the above statement. CHARLES COPELAND.

The price of these wheels are as follows:—7 feet diameter wheel, $160; 5 9-11 feet do., $155; 5 feet do, $135; 4 feet do., $125.

For full particulars, address or apply to the Proprietors of the Patent, or examine the Wheels at the Foundry of T. N. EGERY, at Bangor, where they are manufactured.

Special Notice To Soldiers and Seamen!!

The Law Has Passed!

Bounties Equalized.

Justice Done the Early Soldiers and Seamen of the War, their Widows and Heirs.

NOTICE has been sent me from Washington, that the Law equalizing the bounty to Soldiers and Seaman was passed Saturday last, July 28th, by Congress.

I am now authorized and prepared to collect this Bounty for every Soldier and Seaman entitled, also for their Widows and Heirs.

Application made personally at my office, or by mail,—the discharge of the Soldier or Seaman should be handed in—as it must be forwarded with the application.

All applications must be made signed, witnessed and sworn to, AFTER THE PASSAGE OF THIS LAW. Many soldiers have been induced to sign papers before the law passed. This practice is irregular, fraudulent and void, and papers in all such cases must be made over.
